

Are you in an advanced stage of your studies at the university and do you want to show that your knowledge and skills really matter? As a consultant at UniPartners you can. And it's a nice upgrade for your CV as well!

Why Unipartners?

- Unique experience

As a consultant you are going to work with real questions and problems that a company, institution or government deals with. A big challenge but also a fantastic experience. With of course a proper and professional guidance from our side.

- Enrich your CV

It is becoming ever more important to distinguish yourself from your peers. As a consultant at UniPartners you will enrich your CV. You will show that you know how to turn your academic knowledge into practical results.

- Excellent salary

UniPartners gives you a good salary. At the start of the project the total amount will be determined by the duration and level of the assignment.

How does that work?

Students at the university (master or bachelor's final stage) can sign in without obligations. When a new project is available, you will be informed automatically. After that you can register for the selection procedure.

On average you will be working 8 to 15 hours per week on a project. The duration of a project varies between 30 and 120 hours. Most of your working hours can be done at home and with the approval of your project manager you can determine how you want to divide your hours.

The final result is a practicable, academically based report. And if the occasion arises the recommendations in the report will be explained further during a presentation for the stakeholders within the organization.
